Wishington, Nov. 23.—Advices have been received at the interior department to the effect that cathemen in the Western territories are observing the proclamation issued by the president last August directing the removal of fences including the public lands. In Wyoming, however, the owner of cattle ranches has not only refused to remove fences already constructed, but has begun to extend them, and in this case the attorney general has been requested to bring suit to compel observance of the law. A point has been raised as to whether they may fence their lands where the tracts belong to them but surround areas of public lands, and this point has been decided in the negative, the department holding that access to the public lands must not be restricted.

individual. The fallure of the president of her association to call a meetlar perliminary to the necting of the unitarial association for that purpose has been a riously commented upon, but it was quietly known in this city constitute ago that such a secution would not be called, as the scatter was fully discussed here, and that plan was decided upon, believing it would be best for the ministry of the nation as a whole. But while the Texas associations have had no meetings to formally map out their line of action, there have been informal conferences between some of the meet extensive ranchmen, and as a becastern wing of the association. Collitumer, precident, delivered the annual address, in which he recommended the consideration of diseases of cattle, the improvement of breats, transportation, and discrimination against shippers of fivestock, the formation of an international government commission to consider the question of restrictions upon American beef in Europe, the necessity of substituting some messionated appliance to designate cattle, and thus do away with the hide-destroying branes, the formation of a special association of the horse growing association, the necessity of practical miterial resolution of the horse growing association, the necessity of practical miterial legislation, through which alone existing local troubles can be soluted, and disally the causolidation of the convention of the object of the convention to be to harmonize the whole localized antional legislation, through which alone existing local troubles can be soluted, and disally the causolidation of the object of the convention to be to harmonize the whole localized antional legislation, through which alone existing local troubles can be solved to.

The CATTLE INTERESTS OF THE COUNTER Prof. r. H. Moore of Colorado read an elaborate paper upon the cattle industry of the Enited States, highly descriptive and shounding with statistics of lands. Strong grounds were taken in favor of mational quarantine laws, this point being warmly applanded. Touching the sale ject of the librai fearing of public lands, the speaker said this was as much condemned by the range men as it would be by Connecticut farmers. We only want what the law gives its, the right to occur, the law gives its, the right to occur and now that we can come from our ranches to the convention in palace cars, and now that we can come from our ranches to the convention in palace cars, and now that we can come from our ranches to the convention in palace cars, and now that we can come from our ranches to the convention in palace cars, and now that we can come from our ranch anything in the right direction has been frustrated by a few large stockmon. The geographical location of Texas will be pointed out as very unfortunate, as she is beamed in from the only market she has by other competing states, but the time has come when the cattle interests of the south will be found too colossal to be trifled with or to have their petitions laid on the table. It will be stated that the persons proposing the proposition to establish a national trail and modify exist. ing quarantine laws will meet with the opposition of the railroads as well as the Northern cattle inter-ests, as a national trail would have the effect of making railroad competion, and would keep considerable money out of the strong boxes of rich Eastern stock-holders.
